Game On on the Web.

(Richmond, VA) Game On migrates to the web. The company that brought you an easy to use and affordable solution for managing college athletics recruiting information now moves that solution to the web.

The Game On Recruiting Systems software is now available on the web...to every college coach, in every division, in every conference. Its ease of use, affordability, and adaptability to any program's needs continues to make the software a must have for every college athletics program.

The software makes it easy for a coach to keep track of the contacts and discussions that team representatives have with a player, to generate mass emails and letters, track prospect evaluations, and much more.

"Our customers were asking for greater availability and we've given that to them," says Ms. Lewis, the company's Managing Director. "We've taken all the great features of our desktop version, added some bells and whistles, and integrated the software with our email letterhead to bring our coaches greater power and flexibility managing their recruiting data."

Game On continues to adhere to its philosophy of ease of use, flexible, and cost effective. Any coach can get started using the software for just $479.

Game On Recruiting Software is a must have for every college athletics program.
